While variations exist, the core narrative often revolves around a divine or mythic figure, animals, and a great flood that led to the formation of the landmass known today as North America.

Common Elements of the Legend:

- The Great Flood: Many versions begin with a time of chaos, where the world was submerged in water, and life was confined to the sky or beneath the surface.
- The Sky Woman or Sky Father: A central figure, often a woman or divine being, who falls from the sky or is cast down, bringing with her the seeds of life.
- Animals as Creators: Animals such as turtles, bears, beavers, or muskrat play vital roles in shaping the land.

- The Formation of Land: Through a series of actions by animals?most notably the turtle?the land begins to emerge above the water.

The Role of the Turtle:

In many stories, the turtle is central to the creation process. For example, in some versions, the animals dive into the water to bring up dirt or mud, which eventually accumulates on the turtle?s back. Over time, this dirt grows into the landmass known as Turtle Island.

The Haudenosaunee legend recounts that after the Great Flood, Sky Woman fell from the sky world and landed on the back of a giant turtle. The animals, particularly the muskrat, volunteered to bring up dirt from the depths of the water. The muskrat succeeded, and the dirt was placed on the turtle's back, gradually growing into the land. This story emphasizes cooperation, sacrifice, and respect for the natural world.

Ojibwe and Anishinaabe Version

In Ojibwe stories, the Earth is born from the dreams and visions of Sky Woman. She falls into the water, and animals, recognizing the importance of creating land for life to flourish, work together to bring earth from the depths. The turtle's back becomes the foundation of the world, symbolizing the Earth's endurance and resilience.
